Summary of research carried out by the team of project volunteers into the lives of the 178 people buried in the crypt of Holy Trinity Church (now the Cloudesley Centre), Cloudesley Square, Islington

The research was carried out by volunteers in 2019 and 2020 as part of a project led by the Diocese of London and funded by the National Lottery Heritage Fund.

The starting point for the research was the Holy Trinity burial register which listed name, address, date of burial, age at death and name of officiating minister. Archives consulted include Islington Local History Centre, the London Metropolitan Archives, The National Archives, Ancestry, Find My Past, The British Newspaper Archive, UCL Legacies of British Slave-ownership Database and the General Register Office.

1	Mary Jones	Susan Skedd	b. 1760/1 bap. d. 1829 bur. 21 Nov. 1829	68	Stone Field Terrace Richmond Avenue	A cousin of the painter Robert Smirke, Mary Walker in 1795 married John Jones (d. 1851), editor of the European Magazine and the Naval Chronicle. They had two children: Ellen Elizabeth, who married William Leonard, and John Winter Jones (1805-1881). Their son was educated at St Paul's School and worked for the Charity Commission before joining the staff of the library at the British Museum in 1837. In the same year, John Winter Jones married Susanna Hewson in 1837; their two daughters, Mary (b. 1839) and Ellen (b. 1843) were baptised at Holy Trinity. It is not clear whether no. 24 had been built by 1829 when Mary Jones died; if so, it may have mistakenly been recorded as Stonefield Terrace in the burial register. By 1846, when he drew up his will, John Jones was living at 1 Duncan Terrace. In 1866 John Winter Jones became Principal Librarian at the British Museum, succeeding Antonio Panizzi.
